March 2023

Director's Notes

February was filled with love here at Bon View. The classes had a great time exchanging Valentine cards with their friends! We also focused on kindness during the past month. The classes showed kindness to others in many ways. These included making birthday cards for church staff, helping friends at school, and expressing our gratitude to those who help out at school. We even had some sneaky RAK (Random Acts of Kindness) ninjas that enjoyed spreading kindness in the way of special treats to all of our classes. Learning about kindness and helping others is important as children start to learn empathy for others. Kindness abounds here at Bon View every day!

We are looking forward to spring field trips starting this month. The children will be visiting The Richmond Zoo, Maymont, The Science Museum, and a farm for strawberry picking. We love this time of year where we can make the home-school connection with our families.

We are looking forward to the arrival of spring. Thank you to everyone who has made contributions for our playground. We are still collecting PVC pipes and connectors. We also would love your old flowers or herbs. No need to purchase anything new----used is fine!

Thank you for your continued support this year! We are so thankful for each of our Bon View families!

March is Music in the Schools Month

Did you know that March is Music in the School's Month? Music is truly a special thing for children and our wish is to expose them to different instruments and types of music. We would love to have you join us to share your musical talents with your child's class. Please reach out to your child's teacher if you are interested. We would be so grateful to have you share your passion for music with our Bon View children. We are excited to welcome Tony Tunes to Bon View this week for our very own in-house concert to celebrate the month.

Bunny Pictures

We are very excited for our Bunny Pictures on March 6, 7, and 8. The Children love seeing and holding the bunnies! Feel free to dress your child in their spring outfits.

If you have siblings enrolled at Bon View and would like them to be photographed together, you are welcome to have sibling pictures taken prior to the start of school. Sibling pictures will begin at 9:00 am in the Church Commons (park at the rear of the school and enter through the double red doors by the school courtyard). We will begin our class pictures promptly at 9:45, so please plan on arriving early for sibling pictures. If you have twins that are in the same class, the teachers are happy to have them photographed together during their scheduled class time.

Carpool Reminders

Thank you for your continued support during carpool. We have a couple of reminders to help it continue to run safely and efficiently. In our morning carpool, please have your children stay safely inside the car and not hanging out of the windows or sunroofs. In our afternoon carpool, please place your child's carpool number in the passenger window so that we can clearly see it. Thank you!

Camp Bon View News

We are excited to announce that enrollment for Camp Bon View is coming up! Registration forms will be sent out later this month. Camp Bon View campers will be immersed in a fun, hands-on day that will allow them to learn, move, think, explore, engineer and above all PLAY! This camp will be primarily an outdoor camp (depending on weather) and will include cooking, art, music, literature, messy play, as well as lots of socialization for our campers in the great outdoors.

Camp this year will be a total of eight days beginning on Tuesday, May 23rd and ending on June 2nd. Camp will meet on Tuesday through Friday (no Monday camp). The hours are 9:45-12:45 each day. Due to staffing and COVID precautions, spaces will be limited, and enrollment is on a first come, first served basis.

All currently enrolled Bon View students are eligible to attend camp even if they are not potty trained. Please note, we cannot accept students not currently enrolled at Bon View. This will ensure that we have space for currently enrolled students.

Common Food Allergens and Reactions

A child could be allergic to any food, but these eight common allergens account for 90% of all reactions in kids:

1. Milk
2. Eggs
3. Peanuts
4. Soy
5. Wheat
6. Tree nuts (such as cashews and walnuts)
7. Fish
8. Shellfish (such as shrimp)

In general, most kids with food allergies outgrow them. Of those who are allergic to milk, about 80% will eventually outgrow the allergy. About two-thirds with allergies to eggs and about 80% with a wheat or soy allergy will outgrow those by the time they're 5 years old. Other food allergies are harder to outgrow. Only about 20% of people with allergies to peanuts and about 10% of those allergic to tree nuts outgrow the allergies. Fish and shellfish allergies usually develop later in life and are even more rarely outgrown.

Food allergy reactions can vary from person to person. Some can be very mild and only involve one part of the body, like hives on the skin. Others can be more severe and involve more than one part of the body. Reactions can occur within a few minutes or up to a few hours after contact with the food.

Food allergy reactions can affect any of the four following areas of the body:

Food allergy reactions can affect any of the four following areas of the body:

1. skin: itchy red bumps (hives); eczema; redness and swelling of the face or extremities; itching and swelling of the lips, tongue, or mouth (skin reactions are the most common type of reaction)
2. gastrointestinal tract: abdominal pain, nausea, vomiting, or diarrhea
3. respiratory tract: runny or stuffy nose, sneezing, coughing, wheezing, shortness of breath
4. cardiovascular system: lightheadedness or fainting

A serious allergic reaction with widespread effects on the body is known as anaphylaxis. This sudden, potentially life-threatening allergic reaction involves two or more of the body areas listed above.
